The All-Filipino ball team, which is touring the United States at the present time, arrived in this city late last night, tired but happy. This is the first time any of the boys have been in the Capital of the United States, and the lads are all anxious to see the White House, Capitol, and the monuments.

Ambrosio Villareyes probably will be the pitching selection for the All-Filipinos. This boy is a product of the trade school of Manila. He was refused a place on the regular team by the manager of the school nine, but he determined to make a place for himself as pitcher. He was keen and alert, watched the pitchers of various teams, practiced in private, and developed a sharp-breaking curve and excellent control. After he had progressed sufficiently, he came out from under cover and in practice stood the batters on their heads. He is a strong chap, and could easily pitch Saturday and repeat on Sunday, if necessary.

Manager Oliver stated last night that he would send Harry Kidwell, of the Petworth club, to start the game. Kidwell is in good condition and should pitch a good game of ball against the Filipinos.

Baseball is a new game in the Philippine Islands, but the boys have taken to it like the proverbial duck to water, and have developed a proficiency far beyond the expectations of the most sanguine enthusiast. They are a product of the American educational system in the islands, which is endeavoring to develop the body in conjunction with the mind. It is confidently stated that this physical development will be quite marked in another generation, as the Filipinos are naturally small of stature and not strong physically. We have recently been drawing our players from Cuba, and it is not a weird dream to predict that we will be drafting them from the Philippine Islands in the next five or six years. They are speedy on the bases and in the field, and are smaller in stature than Willie Keeler, Tommie Bush, Miller Huggins, and a record-breaking crowd is expected to turn out.

The game in the post-season which were not played owing to rain will not be scheduled, as they have no bearing on the result. This was announced last night by Secretary Shortt, of the Amateur Association.

The St. Louis club has signed Carl Hodge, a pitcher from Williams College.

McGraw Expects Big Things of This $10,000 "Rube" Hurler

RUBE SCHAUER. The young recruit pitcher, who has just joined the New York Giants. He was purchased from a Michigan League team at a price said to be upward of $10,000. Manager McGraw has watched the Rube work out since he arrived in New York and has expressed himself as satisfied that the Michigan hurler has the goods.

BITS OF BASEBALL

Yean Gregg is having a hard time winning his games, and the Naps are suffering as a consequence.

Outfielder George Walsh, of the Worcester club, who is the property of the Boston club, mourns the death of his mother, which occurred at Rutland, Vt., on the 19th instant.

Says a writer in the New York American: "Cy Fisk is now a member of the Yanks. Not that it makes any difference in the pennant race, but it shows that Hugh Jennings is leading on the job."

The Chicago club has turned infielder Donald Rusk, recently purchased from the Peoria club, over to the Western League club, over to the Lincoln club, of the Western League, for further seasoning.

"The New Yorks next year will have one of the best outfields in either league," says Ben Johnson. To this the New York Sun replies: "There is no man that some of the American League teams have promised to be generous."

Manager Chance, of the New Yorks, is enthusiastic over the work of 27-year-old Magel, the $12,000 infielder recruit. The little fellow has been hitting the ball hard, but with fielders generally in the way. This unlucky streak, however, cannot last forever.

Jimmy Cooney, the rising young shortstop purchased by Boston from the Worcester club, inherited his baseball talents. Young Cooney's father played shortstop on the Chicago Nationals in the '90s. Cooney had been with the Worcester club but six weeks when Boston bought him.

A. G. COX'S COLT LANDS FUTURITY

Dillon Axworthy Captures the $6,000 American Horse Breeders' Stake.

MERIGOLD A WINNER

With Tommy Murphy Driving, Takes the 2:09 Event in Straight Heats.

Salem, N. H., Aug. 22.—The bay colt Dillon Axworthy, owned by A. G. Cox, of Paoli, Pa., today won the $6,000 American Horse Breeders' Futurity for three-year-olds at Rockingham Park. Only five colts started in the event and Peter Johnson, driven by Walter Cox, was the only one to give the Pennsylvania colt an argument.

Tom Murphy continued his winning career by annexing the long end of the stake for 2:08 trotters with Marigold in three straight heats, Ruth McGraw, also from his stable, but driven by Gerry, finishing second.

Walter Cox had all the best of it in the 2:15 stake with the four-year-old filly Judson Girl, although she broke and lost the second heat to the high-priced Star Winter, Summerville.

Five Good Young Catchers.

Five young catchers of ability have been developed in the American League within the last twelve months, all of them being the regular backstops on their teams at present. Dick Gosssett, of the New Yorks, is probably the best catcher, pure and simple, in the lot, though Wally Schang, of the Athletics; Ray Schalk, of the White Sox; Sam Rice, of the Browns, and Red McKee, of Detroit, may hit the ball a trifle harder.

M'LOUGHLIN WINS FROM CLOTHIER

Californian Defeats Philadelphia Tennis Crack at Newport.

BUT SIX NOW IN TOURNEY

Will Not Default to Williams if They Meet in Finals—Strahan Wins from Whitney.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Newport, Aug. 22.—Maurice E. McLoughlin, of California, the idol of the American tennis court, defeated William J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, in straight sets in the tournament here today, and left the impression among the 4,000 spectators that McLoughlin is unquestionably the greatest tennis player in the country today and a fit successor to William A. Larned. The latter was a spectator of today's match and several times was noticed to shake his head in admiration of the all-around form that McLoughlin showed.

McLoughlin played every conceivable kind of tennis, and always seemed to have strength in reserve. Odds of 5 to 1 began to be offered for him. Clothier made it a real test for the champion by playing beautiful tennis in every game. England should be interested to learn that Clothier allowed McLoughlin to win the match without a break in his service. He seemed to solve the famous hurricane serve by waiting for it to break before touching the ball. The score was 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

Will Not Default.

There was an rumor today that in the event McLoughlin would default to Williams in case these two should meet in the final, as seems likely. McLoughlin denied this report, saying it would be unportsmanlike to do such a thing.

Of the original 18 entrants there are now six men left—McLoughlin, Niles, Johnson, Williams, Washburn, and Strahan. To meet Williams, McLoughlin must dispose of Strahan tomorrow. The latter won in straight sets today from Whitney, the speedy Harvard boy. This young Westerner's stock has risen remarkably. If there is a dark horse in the tournament it is he. He is a player of the McLoughlin type, lacking only the cynicism service.

The scores for the day follow: Sixth round, J. E. Strahan, California, defeated E. M. Whitney, Boston, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. Maurice E. McLoughlin, California, defeated W. J. Clothier, Philadelphia, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

Semi-final round, N. W. Niles, Boston, defeated Leonard Beckman, New York, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2. Maurice E. McLoughlin, California, defeated W. J. Clothier, Philadelphia, 6-2, 7-5, 6-4.

BEST HITTERS FAIL BEFORE THESE SIX

Seven of the Ten Leading Batsmen Are Unable to Hit for a .300 Average Against Walter Johnson.

THREE HITTING ABOVE MARK

If Walter Johnson were pitching against a team made up of the ten star batsmen of the American League their brilliancy as stars would soon be dimmed. If these ten fence busters faced pitchers who could deceive them as do Wood, Falkenberg, and Johnson and were fed on a steady diet of such stuff as the above-mentioned gentlemen hand them, the other three, Plank, Bender, and Greig, would be reduced to the ranks of the ordinary.

Just three out of the ten have batted .300 or over against Johnson. Jackson, Speaker, and Crawford were the mainstays of the great Walter as good as he is.

While Johnson, Falkenberg, and "Joe" Wood have proved enigmas to the select ten who are well versed in the circle, the other three, Plank, Bender, and Greig, have failed to stop the great batter with any degree of success. In fact, most of them have fattened their batting averages by facing the two left-handers and the "Big Chief."

The star hitters of the Athletics have been toothsome morsels to the leading aviators. Bender's delivery has been mastered by the "Chief" in eighteen clean hits in forty-four times at bat by the big guns of "Ban" Johnson's circuit, which would give a batting average of .302. Here is the percentage of hits made to the extent of twenty hits in the forty-eight times he has faced the hardest hitters in the league.

This reveals some peculiar phases of the batting and pitching game. Collins must be a terror to all recruits and ordinary hurlers, for he has a batting average of only .196 against the six pitchers herein named. Speaker is the champion in the total averages against the select, followed by sedate and steady Samuel Crawford.

In the ninety-nine times the cream of the hitters faced Walter Johnson they managed to fall out a paltry twenty-two hits, a batting average of .222 against the man from Kansas. Falkenberg, the skyscraper of the league, displayed great skill when facing Speaker, Collins, et al. The resurcited one more than held his own and the heavy artillerymen only registered a batting percentage of .233 against his delivery.

Here is the percentage of hits made by the ten leading batsmen of the American League against the six veteran twirlers, also the totals showing how six other hitters managed to have held the best of them in the league.

WINKLE LANDS STEEPLECHASE

Mrs. Harry Whitney's Gelding Excellently Ridden by Jockey Heider.

HARRY WHITNEY LOSES

Forum, Touted as Equal to Pennant, Fails to Finish in the Money.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Mrs. Harry Whitney's gelding Winkle, excellently ridden by Jockey Heider, won the steeplechase from Wadsworth and Myrtle Light at the Spa today. Whitney was not so fortunate as his wife, as Forum, touted as the equal of Pennant and a newcomer in racing circles, failed to show. Forum was post favorite in a field of seventeen. He met with considerable interference and never had a chance to show his best form, but the result was a great disappointment to his owner and backers.

W. G. Yanke, the "fiddle plunger," had his day today. Both Winkle and Korfbage, bearing Yanke's colors, won the steeplechase from Wadsworth and Myrtle Light. The Western jockey was up on both horses. Little E. McTaggart won again, riding, piloting Reybourne to a pretty finish. Summary:
